The Project goal is to create a platform for Death Penalty Reform in Barbados and the Eastern Caribbean, with specific objectives to educate and inform opinion leaders and the general public over a three year period, about the death penalty as a human rights issue, as well as to build a strong civil society movement that will advocate for its abolition.

The project was rolled out in Barbados during last weekend; June 24 to 26, 2018, with strategic representatives from each of the member states involved. SVG Human Rights is informing that Civil Society Organisations, other than Network members wishing to be involved in the process are asked to contact its office at svghumanrights@gmail.com or call 784-456-2656 for further information.

i. May I remind each person present that we are all stewards, capable of incredible actions, that God uses those who make themselves available, so let’s be passionate about ABOLITION, let’s be inspired & bold, let’s NOT say “I am only one person, what can I do?” Banish that excuse, collaborate, advocate, be authentic, intrigue others as they are hungry for hope, ii. We have a responsibility to leave this world better than the way we found it! We have an obligation to transform so let’s believe in the process & take action as a disciple of Christ!

Thanks & Blessings,
Jeanie.
